

Changeless Change

Baggage Screening

The entire process of finding where in the attic information is stored takes place in a nanosecond. The process is not unlike the baggage screening that takes place in airports.

... go through the x-ray scanners. All the old ideas we have been carrying around, all the instructions and directions we've added to the old ideas, all of it informs our actions and reactions.

Now that we know why we must look at our baggage, let's talk about how we clean out the attic.
